

CITY HALL: SAVE THE MORRISON!

The Morrison is a single room occupancy hotel (SRO) made famous on the cover of the 1970 album by Jim Morrison and The Doors.

Greedy developers evicted its tenants in 2004 to make it a luxury property but it has remained empty.

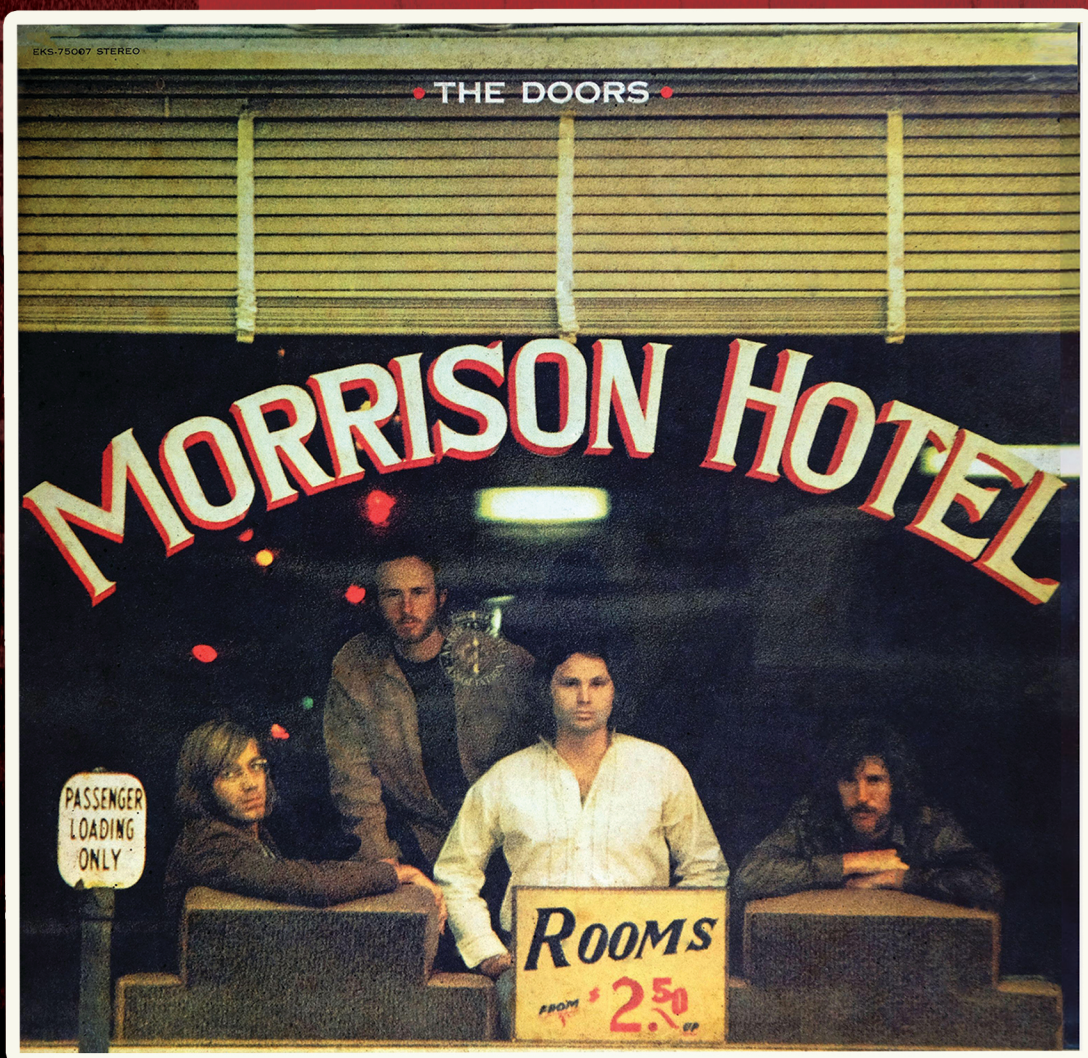

In the midst of a catastrophic low-income housing crisis 111 rooms remain vacant.

LA City law prevents the destruction of SROs unless they are replaced room for room.

Now the developers want to build luxury units there before they have replaced the old ones.

They have also gutted the interior of this historic 100+ year old building without pulling permits.

TELL CITY HALL TO STOP THIS DESTRUCTION IN ITS TRACKS.
